

2015 Delaware Trail Marathon Certificate of Completion

Be it known to all that on Saturday, April 25th 2015,

---

(insert victim's name here)

did run and complete a Trail Marathon of 26 miles and 385 yards (or longer) at White Clay Creek State Park in Newark, Delaware, over what the Organizers allege to be a "scenic" course featuring Hills, Water Crossings, Rocks, Roots, fallen Trees, Mud, Tick-infested Meadows, Brambles, Poison Ivy & various other Hazards and Impediments;

in consequence whereof, as the aforementioned Person did actually reach the finish line of said Marathon in more or less vertical fashion, and has agreed not to sue the Organizers, Sponsors or any other Parties responsible for this event, he or she is henceforth declared to be most deserving of all the Perquisites, Emoluments & bragging Rights that may accrue from this athletic Achievement, to wit, this most elegant Certificate; fond Memories of a moist natural Experience; ruined Shoes; any acquired Blisters, Abrasions, Sprains, Itches, Rashes & parasitic Infections; not to mention the Doubts of Friends and Relatives regarding the aforementioned person's Soundness of Judgment in voluntarily undertaking such an Endeavor.

John Mackenzie, Race Director